Pedagogy of Voice: Identity, Agency, and Ownership

Imagine your math class grounded in equitable math practices, student discussion, and student sense-making of grade level rigorous mathematics. Join us for MaTHink 2025. The sessions will help you continue on your professional learning journey towards equitable, relevant, and engaging mathematics pedagogy. Sessions will include content relevant for English learners, grounded in Universal Design for Learning (UDL), and the Teaching for Robust Understanding (TRU) Framework. Continuing education credit of one quarter unit will be offered through UCR Extension for an additional fee.

Topics Include:

- Math Content
- Early Childhood Education PK-3
- Formative Assessment Practices
- Instructional Leadership and Coaching
- Equitable Teaching Practices in Mathematics: Universal Design for Learning (UDL), Teaching to Big Ideas, Culturally Responsive and Sustaining Pedagogy, Social and Emotional Learning (SEL)
- Learning Acceleration (not remediation)
