

INSTRUCTION

SUBJECT: Public Performances and Exhibitions

Assemblies, public programs, and public performances by students have an important place in a well-rounded educational program. They must, however, be consistent with the educational goals of the County Office of Education.

1. Programs should have educational value.
2. Programs should be varied, in good taste, and appeal to the interests of students.
3. Every student should be given opportunities to participate.
4. Programs free from partisan politics.
